

LIVING UNNATURAL LIVES

brings about unnatural physical conditions. The Indian was seldom sick till he became civilized. Civilization puts people in offices and stores, keeps them housed up—brings complex cookery. In the hurry to go some place, or do some thing, the body is forgotten. People eat the wrong things at the wrong time, and they eat too fast to much. That isn't natural, and it's more than the digestive organs can stand. They need help. Taking a simple medicine furnishes the help.
